The book evolved out of an artistic project for which young artists were invited on an international level to send in a picture and a short text expressing their notion of an Intimate Space. The Brasilian-Austrian artist Georgia Creimer appropriated the many different contributions for her artistic-architectonic intervention in the houses of the Olympic Village through monochrome colouring in the spectrum of the Olympic Rings. The joint work reflects the relevance of dwelling and privacy in an intercultural dialogue and juxtaposes a large-scale sports event with intimate glimpses of special, individual places.
